FOREWORD

The need of a check list of the books in the Newberry Library which were printed before 31 December 1500, (i.e., Incunabula), has been keenly felt for a number of years, but pressure of work in other directions has hitherto prevented its compilation. With the inauguration of the John M. Wing Foundation the necessity of such a list has become imperative, as the works to be acquired with the income of that Foundation will perforce include a very considerable number of Incunabula. With such a list in hand the processes involved in selecting and buying further examples will be greatly expedited, the danger of duplication will be lessened, and the administrative use and public exhibition of all our Incunabula markedly simplified.

It should be clearly understood that the present check list merely records the results of a preliminary examination of the books described. They have not been given full collation nor has their bibliographical and literary history been fully investigated; in many cases the identification given is only tentative and approximate. The list is not intended as a bibliographical contribution, but simply as a practical working hand list for official use by the Library Staff.

The order of arrangement is chronological. The various countries are taken up in the order in which printing was introduced within their borders and under each country the cities are arranged on the same principle. The presses of each city appear in the order of their establishment and the books of each press according to the date of their publication, so far as this is ascertainable. Books which cannot be dated are entered last under the press that issued them.

Each entry in the list shows: (1) Date. (2) Author. (3) A brief title. (4) Bibliographical references. (5) Newberry accession number. (6) Serial number in the list.

For the spelling of authors' names, titles, and the like, Proctor's usage is taken as a standard. In general his datings are also accepted, though in a few instances where later authorities have corrected his arrangement their dates are shown.

The following are the full titles of the bibliographical authorities cited:
